

UHS SCHOOLS, SANTA ROSA

UHS SCHOOLS, SANTA ROSA, is a year round non-public special education satellite located on a public school campus. UHS Schools, Santa Rosa contracts with Sonoma County and other nearby districts to offer a full array of services to students who have been designated emotionally disturbed and students with autism or developmental disabilities Kindergarten through 12th grade. UHS Schools, Santa Rosa operates two satellite classrooms with plans to expand. UHS Schools, Santa Rosa, team effectively with parents, school districts, and local agencies to provide each student an individualized academic and mental health program. The educational and mental health programs are supported by a behavioral management system that emphasizes positive behavioral interventions aimed at empowering students to become more responsible for their own actions and make choices that will lead to success and fulfillment. UHS Schools, Santa Rosa staff work closely with all district contacts and parents and take pride in promoting a true atmosphere of teamwork in which students can make positive changes in their lives.

UHS SCHOOLS, SANTA ROSA
CALL FOR MORE INFORMATION:
707-643-9800

2480 Sebastopol Road Santa Rosa, CA (fax) 951-643-9808

OUR SERVICES

- School-wide positive behavior management systems
- Intensive, Individualized Behavioral Services for Students with Developmental and Emotional Disabilities
- Research-Based, Individualized Educational Programs that meets California State Standards
- Designated Instructional Services as indicated on the Individual Education Plan
- Dual-diagnosis classrooms with Permanently Assigned Mental Health Specialists through partnership with local County Mental Health Programs
- Non Public Agency Services which include center based and home based intensive early intervention autism services
- Classrooms in six public school settings as an intermediary step for students returning to public school
- Academic program with emphasis on functional and grade specific curriculum
- Comprehensive educational and behavioral assessment within thirty days of admission
- Language and Speech Development Remediation for students with autism
- Parent Counseling and Training
- Transition Education and Career Development
- Full Range of Research-Based Psychological Skills Training Programs
- Sports Program
- Transportation Services

UHS SCHOOLS

Non-Public Special Education Schools

UHS schools are year-round, non-public schools serving students who have been designated emotionally disturbed and students with autism or developmental disabilities grades Pre-Kindergarten through 12th grade. The nine schools and six collaborative satellite classrooms are located in California and Texas. The schools incorporate intensive behavioral services, individualized educational plans, and designated instructional services as indicated on the student's individual education plan. The school programs are research-based with the primary emphasis on delivering services individualized during intake for the population of students we serve and based upon the leading research practices for this population. Additionally, the school programs are fully in compliance with best practices standards established by the California Department of Education and our local school districts. Our positive behavior management system is based upon the Girls and Boys Town model for students with emotional disturbance and our commitment to careful, data-based monitoring of each student's progress toward individualized behavioral and academic goals helps us maximize each student's potential to learn & develop, as well as facilitate eventual transition back to public school.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Our students are referred to us by contracting school districts and SELPA's (Special Education Local Plan Area) located in the surrounding counties. The student's Individualized Education Plan (IEP) must identify that student as needing special education services. An interview with the student and parents/guardian is required prior to admission. UHS Schools are a "restrictive environment", not open campuses, and the students are supervised at all times.

For more information contact: 707-643-9800